

Welcome to Mentimeter

4

20

Think about who have been your pilgrim guides in your life.

What qualities will you look for in your pilgrims guides into the future and what would make you a good pilgrim guide for your friends?

Leadership qualities, approachable, reliable, knowledgeable, life-experience, faith, honesty, friendship.

Perseverance, someone who has the ability to stand through the doubt.

Insightfulness, because pilgrims need reassurance that their guidance is morally correct.

Gentleness Compassion
Empathy Support Generosity
Advice Wisdom Knowledge Experience Perseverance
Resilience Faith and Passion Drive Bavery Courage Hope!

The qualities we would look for kind, inspiring, faithful person, loyal, respectful, good listener, respects boundaries, helpful person.

A person who is genuine and cares for others. Also, someone who is understanding and has empathy.

Qualities that we look for in our pilgrim guides is someone who is inclusive and having someone who is willing to give up their time and lead for others, not just themselves.

Kindness, understanding, wisdom. I could be a good pilgrim guide to my friends by respecting thier boundaries

Think about who have been your pilgrim guides in your life.

What qualities will you look for in your pilgrims guides into the future and what would make you a good pilgrim guide for your friends?

Qualities: Accountability - hold you accountable for your actions Resilience - they are always there Leadership - step up as leader and guide you when you're not sure of your way

Best interests at heart, encouraging, kind, compassionate, responsible, respectful and loving

1. people who are able to rally others together for a singular goal and helping others when troubles arise. 2. being able to focus not the hardships, or troubles.

Honesty makes you a good pilgrim guide for your friends because it allows you rely on them. Also, you can rely on their good judgement to make decisions and guide you towards self improvement.

Parents and teachers are good pilgrim guides as they often share the same values. Some good qualities include faith (pray over you, lead you in worship such as church), responsibility and leadership

Having someone who is informed about the places on the pilgrimage.

Lead by example Respect, being loyal, staying consistent

Knowledgeable, sense of adventure, wisdom, strong moral compass, fun, leadership, approachable, kindness, fair, a sense of purpose, responsibility.

Think about who have been your pilgrim guides in your life.

What qualities will you look for in your pilgrims guides into the future and what would make you a good pilgrim guide for your friends?

Being able to trust the people who will help you on your pilgrimage and you know will allow you to develop and guide you on the journey

Things that make us are stay true to yourself, confident, love yourself and others, supportive, respectful, do your best, be thoughtful, do whats right, doesn't give up, leader, takes responsibility.

Decisiveness/sticking to it, confidence, kindness, compassionate, reliable, honesty, resilience,

Parents: Brought us up, gave us the beliefs and guide required to get us where we are. Jesus: Guide throughout journey Qualities to look for/aspire to: Patient, Considerate, Mindful, Selfless, Courage

Being a good friend, through the good and bad times, listening.

Someone that encourages us to challenge ourselves. A person that shows empathy and selflessness and is respecting of other peoples opinions.

Good pilgrim guides would be teachers, parents, pastors, priests, quality friends. Qualities to look for would be honesty, compassionate, loyalty, respectful, empathetic. Holding friends accountable Parents teach you kindness and respect, they mould us encouraging the development of resilience, patience and perseverance. Kindness, equality, respect and ability to be a leader.

Think about who have been your pilgrim guides in your life.

What qualities will you look for in your pilgrims guides into the future and what would make you a good pilgrim guide for your friends?

A person that is accepting and forgiving.

Having a sense of compassion and being able to understand how others feel.

Priests: Good spiritual role models. Friends/teammates: can have good qualities to learn from Leading by example

Honesty - being honest with our friends

A person who can show gratitude and be able to give as well as take. They treat everyone as equals

Inclusive, Humility, Respect, Friendly

Patience having a vision and knowing what to do when something goes wrong

Think about who have been your pilgrim guides in your life.

What qualities will you look for in your pilgrims guides into the future and what would make you a good pilgrim guide for your friends?

qualities in pilgrim guides:
sensible, trustworthy, honesty, loyalty, supportive, consistent,
good listener, big heart, wisdom, compassionate, understanding.

A person that is gentle, that knows when to push and when to comfort

Someone that stands along side you in hardships and supports you when you need it.

Being a role model to others and having a sense of empathy to others around you. Being able to understand how other people see the world.

A person that knows how to spark courage in others

What makes a good pilgrim guide for friends: being nice to everyone, knowing right from wrong, kindness, understanding, gentleness

Based on the story of Emmaus, what qualities do you think people need if they are to bearers of hope for others?

Being able to listen to others around you and not to overload them, let them speak. Having a sense of subtlety to others

Optimistic, perserverance, patient, gentle, patience, faith,

Ability to see the light even in dark times, being optimistic, having faith confidence and leadership

Being optimistic, faithful, loyal.

1. Resilience, optimism, persuasive, patient, hopeful, passionate, courageous, outgoing, persevering

Gentle and not pushing for information. Being patient and listening. Being there.

Resilience, dedication, selflessness, empathy, forgiveness, patience and courage

Based on the story of Emmaus, what qualities do you think people need if they are to bearers of hope for others?

Optimism, patience, hope, compassionate, faithful, insightful, thoughtful, wise, leadership. Volunteer and help out with school events, show some kindness.

They need to be gentle, be able to read a room, hope, a good listener, do the right thing, empathy, compassion, kind, perseverance, patience, forgiving.

The heart to sacrifice

Listening and patience, empathy, understanding, forgiveness.

Having patience, to have good judgement, to know what is right and wrong. Giving time to be a companion on the journey

The ability to see things through no matter the situation.

a person must be open to having and receiving hope, to not be blinded by hardships. Confidence, listening and getting engaged in helping your school.

being confident but also allowing yourself or others to be vulnerable and welcoming even if differences occur. For schools to help, focusing on a more emotional response for students.

Based on the story of Emmaus, what qualities do you think people need if they are to bearers of hope for others?

At school, focus on the students positive side of things, encourage them to grow and support them in areas of weakness

Educating students on inspirational stories, enforcing values and morals of school, encouraging students to look to Jesus

Offering opportunities and workshops Group projects Activates Consistency and Trust in what's to come (good or bad) Courage Resilience Support and encouragement, being proud no matter how well you're doing

You can be patient, ask and listen to them, be understanding, open minded, non judgemental, offer your time and advice

Open minded, resilience to help set examples for others, provide a sense of community.

To be a bearer of hope, you need to be hope-filled yourself and share this with others. To be a person who focusses on the positives and empathises with others in their struggles.

More spaces and times for collaboration, listening to students. Possibly a student voice

It's not about pushing the pain away but learning to accept and grow from it

Based on the story of Emmaus, what qualities do you think people need if they are to bearers of hope for others?

Empathy, being able to put yourself in others positions and understand how they feel

Give us teachers like Ms Cutler!!!!

Give people other chances

2. More opportunities to spread faith, workshops etc to help develop self-belief and encourage involvement in faith-based activities, and allow students to explore their own faith.

To be bearers of hope they need to be patient, hopeful, empathetic and open-mindedness

Schools can provide pilgrimages and retreats to foster faith and self-reflection to improve hope in students and help them be a bearer of hope for others.

Bearers of hope must be inspirational and lead by example. Understanding of the needs of others and responding to these needs. Being consistent in your approach and care for others.

try to cheer them up

Based on the story of Emmaus, what qualities do you think people need if they are to bearers of hope for others?

believe in them and always be there for them

Instill and encourage solid values, give opportunities for students to share their faith with their peers and others.

Being able to understand and communicate with people on different levels of emotions or mental capacity or ability.

Give us teachers like Mr Goerke!!

Qualities that people need to give hope to others would be to provide support to those around them, being kind and understanding to everyone and uplifting and encouraging
others.

share your own personal testimonies and and own experiences of hope to cause inspiration and open the door of other around you to feel the power of your own trials and tribulations

The 7 gifts of the Holy Spirit

People need to have the qualities of respect and being able to listen to other if they are to be bearers of hope for them

Based on the story of Emmaus, what qualities do you think people need if they are to bearers of hope for others?

People need to be able to lead by example to be a bearer of hope, being able to show how to play out actions of hope and be able to help others understand how to show hope.

respond to the needs

Listening, encouragement, patience, forgiveness,

Teachers connect with students, helping their siblings, people who understand, healthy relationships.

Present religion in a way that is more modern for students to understand and relate to faith easier.

To be encouraging and to not give out so much negativity to those around you.

Gentle, Strong, understanding, patient, optimistic, our schools can help us to do this by providing many resources and lessons to help understand ourselves, others, and faith, provide opportunities.

Events like tough night out provide us with opportunities to experience a small piece of the hardship people feel and learn from it and become a bearer of hope for others doing it tough

Based on the story of Emmaus, what qualities do you think people need if they are to bearers of hope for others?

Community service

ability to listen,
perseverance,
dedication, courage,
hope

Putting the hard situations into perspective. Preventing people from getting overwhelmed

Just be KIND!!!

As you think about the suggestions of Pope Francis, can you identify people and places close to you who come to your mind and whom you can help?

People on the streets,
people with disabilities,
people in need of hope.

Who can we help:
homeless, elderly,
younger siblings

I believe my school and other schools should participate in the push up challenge. It helps support your physical health and those who are unfortunate and in a bad mental state.

Perth Children's Hospital, Palliative care/hospice

The elderly - for all the work they have invested in us, now is our time to help them.
The homeless - a vulnerable group in society

Most family, Schools, close friendgroups or any sort of relationship For specific projects, i'm not sure, but anything to help those impooveresed, or without ways to support themselves.

You can help friends and people around you when they lose hope

Schools could help by organising more events similar to this, where multiple colleges collaborate with each other to benefit the wider community

As you think about the suggestions of Pope Francis, can you identify people and places close to you who come to your mind and whom you can help?

homeless people around the local area. people who struggle sick family members assisting the elderly people

Support centres for the homeless and marginalised

All people, as everyone is going through something they don't talk about, and people often internalize their struggles, so being help to those in corners aswell

People who are not as fortunate and do not have access to basic necessities. Our school does winter appeals and Christmas appeals to collect donations for families.

The use of Vinnies to help those without the means to help themselves in life.

Soup kitchens, helping people in age care, homeless and people who are experiencing domestic violence. The people who are serving in wars. Touching Hearts is an organisation some schools partner with.

we can help different primary schools, family and friends

Friends and Family, Charity funding, people in our local community, the sick, the elderly,

As you think about the suggestions of Pope Francis, can you identify people and places close to you who come to your mind and whom you can help?

The shopfront, donate to charities, donate to lifelink agencies, donate to st vincent de paul, give out the things you don't need.

The elderly, nursing homes

Projects: Volunteering our time to help refugees (with a certain organisation) Christmas appeal Project Compassion Volunteering to help teachers Refugee week (bring in food from your culture)

Don't take the things you have for granted.

food hampers making cards to the elderly people/gifts/visiting people/play instruments (guitar)

Those who struggle with mental health Those who are lonely - be a friend to them

Vulnerable groups - refugees, victims of domestic violence, homeless

Putting ourselves forward to help smaller communities outside of our area (e.g. rural schools and communities) - through sharing of resources.

As you think about the suggestions of Pope Francis, can you identify people and places close to you who come to your mind and whom you can help?

Vinnies, Perth homeless support group, Ellenbrook meals, Social Justice Immersion, Give Write,

We can assist those who are ill, families that our struggling, providing support and presence to the lonely.

Teachers, parents / family members, religious leaders, friends. Saint Vinnies Salvation appeals, Project Compassion, Caritas Australia, fundraising as an overall, Winter sleepout, Walking for life,

People who are outcast in society and face discrimination

Our schools could help the homeless by doing projects for Vince's and caritas

Our school does many donations and helping the community, especially with our Winter Appeal and Christmas Appeal, our school is able to do to those less fortunate.

We could care for the environment God has given us by doing community service cleaning the local beach or planting a looking after a garden

Those in the community who dont have a voice for themselves to express their concerns, ie the homeless, people with mental health issues and disabilities, women and children in domestic violence

As you think about the suggestions of Pope Francis, can you identify people and places close to you who come to your mind and whom you can help?

Christmas appeal,
Caritas Australia, op shops

Start up small mission groups within school, sent out to different places providing food and clothing as well as other necessities

We could hold fundraisers, praise club, stalls to raise money, winter appeal, sleepout, christmas hampers, kick-a-footy, free dress to raise money.

World's Greatest Shave.

Homeless organisations and charities, being a support system for families and friends, our peers. Special Project: More fundraisers throughout the year that everyone in the school can participate in.

Refugees and other marginalised people

People who are often perceived as the "helpers".
Making sure that they are getting the same support they offer to others and are experiencing the helping hand like they give to their peers

The elderly, homeless and disabled. Caring for the nature by planting trees. Fundraising involving the whole school, such as Make A Difference day-fundraising for our sister school in another country

As you think about the suggestions of Pope Francis, can you identify people and places close to you who come to your mind and whom you can help?

Families and friends can attend volunteering and fundraising events.

The school could provide a breakfast club where students who may be vulnerable can start the day in a positive way

Peer support buddy system, norbie care, breakfast club.

Diversity centre, more events to raise awareness for mental health, providing health plans, be kind to those who are different, be there for someone suffering from mental health problems, support them fundraising fun day.

projects we could work on: winter sleepout, visit old people's home, pyjama day, bake sales, market stores, hair donations for people with illnesses

Food and clothes drives for the poor and homeless and also retreats for students.

Be a good friend, stand by someone's side.

As you think about the suggestions of Pope Francis, can you identify people and places close to you who come to your mind and whom you can help?

Aboriginal Empowerment programs, and projects that benefit and provide a voice for not only the First Nations of Australia but also our other countries at our school

Focus on social injustice!!! Cultural Awareness Day

